Every year, Nal'ibali joins in these celebrations to encourage all South Africans to exercise their right to read and share stories in a language that they choose.

5 reasons to regularly read aloud to your children

- Reading aloud to your children gives you things to talk about. Talking to each other strengthens the bond between you and your children.
- Children copy what adults do. Seeing their parents and caregivers reading and telling stories helps children understand that reading is an important, worthwhile and enjoyable activity that they could learn and do for themselves.
- It is easier for them to learn to read. When you read aloud to your children, it shows them how to read and how books work.
- Your children can enjoy stories that they cannot yet read on their own because children know and understand words and language before they learn to read.
- They can learn new words. When you read to your children, they hear new words and expressions in stories. This helps them to develop a large vocabulary that they can use when they read and write on their own.

Swilo swa-4 swo endla ndyangu lowu rhandzaka ku hlaya

Xin'wana xa swilo leswi nga tisaka vuyelo lebyinene evuton'wini loko hi swi endla i ku yingisela vana va hina ni ku vulavurisana na vona, hi tlhela hi endla swilo na vona. Leswi swi endleka hi ku olova loko mindyangu yi hlamuselana mintsheketo ni ku yi hlaya swin'we.

- Hlayani hi ririm i leri vana va ri mameke.
- Hlayani leswi va swi rhandzaka.
- Hlayani tibuku leti printiweke.
- Hlayani swin'we.

4 steps to becoming a reading family

One of the best investments we can make is listening and talking to our children and doing things with them. This happens naturally when families tell and read stories together.

- Read in their mother tongue.
- Read what they love.
- Read printed books.
- Read together.

Nkoka wa ririmi ra manana

Swi nga ku tekela malembe ku dyondza ririmi leri u ri mameke u ri tiva kahle, naswona loko vana va mi twa mi hlaya mintsheketo ni ku vulavula hi timhaka to hambanahambana hi ririmi leri mi ri mameke, ku sukela va ha ri swihlangi, swi va pfuna ku dyondza swilo ni ndlela leyi misava yi endlaka swilo ha yona. Swi tlhela swi va pfuna ku va ni masungulo lamanene yo dyondza exikolweni.

Laha Afrika Dzonga, mindyangu yo tala yi vulavula tindzimi timbirhi kumbe ku tlula ekaya. Leswi swi va mpfuno lowukulu eka vana! Swirho hinkwaswo swa ndyangu, ku katsa ni vana hi ku siyana ka vona, va kota ku hlamusela timhaka, swilo leswi va swi tivaka ni leswi va swi twisisaka ku suka eka ririmi rin'wana ku ya eka lerin'wana.

Vana va kota ku dyondza tindzimi timbirhi kumbe ku tlula hi nkarihi wun'we! Hi xikombiso, Manana a nga va a vulavula Xixhosa, kasi Tatana a nga va a vulavula Xisuthu. Manana na Tatana va vulavula na n'wana wa vona hi tindzimi ta vona. N'wana u ta kula a dyondza Xixhosa na Xisuthu. Kutani, loko swirho swa ndyangu swi vulavula tindzimi to hambana, swi nga va kahle ku hlayela vana tibuku na mintsheketo hi tindzimi ta kona. Nchumu wa nkoka i ku tiyiseka leswaku vana va n'wina va mi twisia naswona va tsaka hi nkarihi lowu mi nga swin'we.

The importance of mother tongues

It can take many years to learn one's mother tongue well, and when children hear you reading stories and talking about different topics in your mother tongue from when they are babies, it helps them to learn about things and how the world works. It also gives them a firm start for successful learning at school.

In South Africa, many families speak more than one language at home. This is a wonderful advantage for the children! All family members, including children of all ages, can transfer the ideas, knowledge and understanding that they learn in one language to another language.

Children are able to learn more than one language at the same time! For example, Mom's mother tongue could be isiXhosa, and Dad's mother tongue could be Sesotho. Mom and Dad each speak their own language to their baby. The baby will grow up learning isiXhosa and Sesotho. So, if different family members have different mother tongues, it is good to share books and stories with the children in different languages. The important thing is to make sure that your children understand you and enjoy the time that you spend together.

Ku vuriwa yini loko vana va wena va sungula ku dyondza ririmi rin'wana exikolweni? What if your children start learning an additional language at school?

Hambetani mi hlayela vana va n'wina ni ku vulavula na vona hi ririmi leri va ri mameke. Hi ndlela yoleyo, va nga dyondza timhaka leti rharhanganeke hi ririmi leri ana se va ri twisisaka kahle. Hi xikombiso, swi nga endlaka vana va wena va swi twisia leswaku "vunghana" i yini hi ririmi ra vona. Loko va dyondza rito leri vulaka "vunghana" hi ririmi lerintshwa, va kota ku twisia nhlamuselo leyi enteke ya "vunghana" hi ririmi lerintshwa.

Keep reading and talking to your children in their mother tongue. In this way they can learn about more complex ideas in a language that they already understand well. For example, your children may already understand "friendship" in their mother tongue. When they learn the word for "friendship" in the new language, they transfer their understanding of the deep meaning of "friendship" to the new language.

Hlaya ni vana va wena tibuku ta swifaniso hi ririmi lerintshwa leri va ri dyondzaka exikolweni. Swifaniso swi ta va pfuna ku hatla va dyondza ririmi.

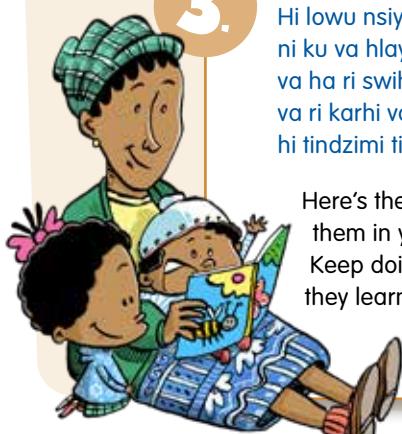

Read picture books with your children in the new language that they are learning at school. The pictures will help them to learn the language more easily.

3.

Hi lowu nsiya wa nawu: sungulani ku vulavula na vona ni ku va hlayela hi ririmi kumbe tindzimi ta n'wina loko va ha ri swihlangi. Hambetani mi endlisa sweswo loko va ri karhi va kula, naswona sungulani ku va hlayela ni hi tindzimi tin'wana leti va ti dyondzaka exikolweni!

Here's the golden rule: start talking and reading to them in your mother tongue(s) when they are babies. Keep doing this throughout their childhood and, as they learn other languages at school, start reading to them in these languages too!

Kasini is eight years old. She loves to cook. She reads a cookbook on the school bus every morning and before bedtime.

She sings for the stick, but there is no change. “I am sorry,” she says. The stick turns back to brown just in time, and Kasini hugs it in joy.

"I suppose it's nap time for Mbali and Dintle," says Mme wa Afrika. She takes Mbali and Dintle to the bedroom and covers them with a blanket. Then she tells them a story. Soon they are both fast asleep.

Mme wa Afrika hears the children laughing. She looks out of the bedroom window and sees them acting out the story. She watches the show with delight.

"That was fun! We should do it again tomorrow with a different story!" says Neo.

"Count me in!" Mme wa Afrika calls out excitedly.

"Me too!" Gogo shouts from the stoep. "Acting out a story is better than watching it on television!"

For the rest of the holiday the whole family enjoys story time every afternoon. And every story is an adventure!

"Such hard workers deserve a treat," says Uncle as he roasts mealies for the children to eat.

Bella can't wait to tell her friends at school about this day.

On Tuesday, Neo, Afrika and Bella help Gogo bake delicious scones. Gogo gives Mbali some dough to play with. When the scones have cooled, Mme wa Afrika breaks open five scones and puts some jam on each. Everyone gets one, except Mbali and Dintle.

"They are too young to eat scones and jam," says Mme wa Afrika.
"They can have some banana."

Neo writes down the scone recipe. "One day when Mbali and Dintle are older, I will bake scones for them," he smiles.

Hi Ravumbhirhi Neo, Afrika na Bella a va pfuna Gogo ku baka swikotsi swo nandziha. Gogo a nyika Mbali mbila ku tlanga hi wona. # The cat and the cockroach

By Yolanda Banze ■ Illustrations by Chantelle and Burgen Thorne

Story corner

A silly little brown cockroach once shared a house with a family and their cat.

The silly little brown cockroach, like his whole cockroach family, loved eating. Cockroaches don't have to eat every day, but in this house the yummiest bits and scraps were set out for the cat – bits and scraps the silly little brown cockroach could not overlook! His pair of long feelers were constantly twitching as they picked up the most delicious smells that drifted from the kitchen where the cat also ate.

"Do not go to the kitchen every night. You'll be seen and killed!" warned the silly little brown cockroach's family. But he was leading a very happy life and did not listen to their warnings. He enjoyed having plenty of lip-smacking food from the cat's bowl.

The cat liked to leave a midnight snack for herself every night, but surprisingly, when she got to her bowl, she would find it empty. "This is very strange," thought the cat. "It can only be a mouse that is eating my midnight snack each night." So she searched all over the house for a mouse.

As the cat searched for the thieving mouse each night, the silly little brown cockroach shook with laughter. "The cat thinks she is so clever," the silly little brown cockroach giggled as he waited for the cat to give up on the search.

One night, the silly little brown cockroach noticed that the cat had once again left some of her food and milk for later, and his tummy started to growl. His feelers flicked this way and that, while he waited for the cat to go to sleep. He watched as the moon slowly crawled past the window.

"Oh, hurry up and go to sleep! I am so hungry," complained the silly little brown cockroach until the cat finally fell asleep.

In the meantime, the cat grew very sad because she could not find the thieving mouse. In fact, she could not even smell the mouse. "What if the family finds out about the mouse? They will think that I have become too old to chase or even smell a mouse! They might start thinking of getting a new and younger cat," she thought sadly.

Late one night, the silly little brown cockroach snuck into the kitchen once more. "Cats are really not very clever," he thought as he nibbled on some of the leftover food in the cat's bowl.

But suddenly the kitchen light flicked on, followed by the most frightful, long, piercing scream! The scream was so loud and so piercing that it confused the silly little brown cockroach so much that he didn't know which way to run.

The scream came from the woman who lived in the house. She kept screaming as she ran all over the kitchen with a hop, skip and a jump, just missing the scurrying silly little brown cockroach every time.

All this frightful noise brought the cat running around the corner to join the chase. This gave the woman the chance to grab a red spray can. The silly little brown cockroach darted away from the cat, glad the woman seemed to have given up, but not realising the danger he was in.

The woman aimed and sprayed, the cat sneezed, and the silly little brown cockroach started to feel woozy and dizzy.

"Oh, this noise is going to crack my skull," thought the silly little brown cockroach, "and I can't see clearly with my head spinning so much. Why, oh why, did I steal the cat's food? Why, oh why, did I not listen to my family?" he mumbled before he fainted.

The woman grabbed the broom and swept the silly little brown cockroach up as the cat looked on.

"Silly little brown cockroach, don't you come back here! I will be waiting and watching," said the cat as the woman threw the silly little brown cockroach out the back door into the night.

And that is why, to this day, the silly little brown cockroach stays outside, away from cats and spray cans and women with piercing screams. But sometimes the yummy smells become too much for him, and then the silly little brown cockroach will scurry into a house for a small feast in the middle of the dark, dark night.

Get story active!

- ★ How would you feel if you saw a cockroach in your house? Draw a picture of yourself when you see a cockroach.
- ★ Imagine that the cockroach wants to apologise to the cat for stealing her food. Write the letter the cockroach sends to the cat.

- ★ Pretend that you are the lady of the house. Show how she hopped and skipped when she saw the cockroach.
- ★ Use some clay or playdough to make models of the cat and the cockroach.
